Misclassification of smoking habits: An updated review of the literature

Janette S Hamling, Katharine J Coombs, Peter N Lee

Abstract

Misclassification of smoking habits leads to underestimation of true relationships between diseases and active smoking, but overestimation of true relationships with passive smoking. We analysed data from studies using cotinine as a marker which involved at least 200 participants and provided information on high cotinine levels in self-reported non-, never, or ex-smokers. Information on low levels in self-
