

Singapore is an English speaking country, with English being the official language.

All the authors are proficient in English and have reviewed the manuscript to ensure that there are no grammatical errors.