Dear reviewers,

We wish to thank you all for your constructive comments made for our review. Your comments provided valuable insights to refine its contents and analysis. In this document, we try to address the issues raised as best as possible:

1)We structured the methodology section to add more clarity to the process of article selection and data extraction.

2) We revised the discussion section in order to highlight the important findings and put them in a proper context. We also fleshed out the potential clinical applications of our review and proposed areas of interest for further development.

3) We created a separate paragraph for limitations, at the last part of the Discussion.
