

Response to reviewers

Dear Editors and Reviewers,

Thank you for assessing our manuscript, for the constructive comments made in your review notes and for the opportunity to revise our work. Your suggestions have been addressed on a point-by-point basis and changes have been made accordingly, which are highlighted throughout the manuscript.

Comment

a) The article does not have an abstract or keywords. b) The conclusions are insufficient. They should be extended. c) The discussion should be extended to compare the results obtained with more similar studies.

Author reply

Abstract and keywords are visible in the submission platform, but they've also been included in the main text.

In the revised version of the manuscript, discussions and conclusions have been extended as suggested, and a figure summarizing the most common abdominal imaging findings in COVID-19 has been added.

Comment

The article is well prepared, I have no additional suggestions.

Thank you for the appreciation of our work.

Thank you again for all your comments, which were highly appreciated and taken into account for this revised, improved version of our manuscript. We are open to any further corrections.

Best regards,
