	Editorial Office's Comments Science Editor: 1 Scientific quality: The authors investigated the effects of a combined zinc acetate with rifaximin on liver fibrosis in a mouse alcoholic liver disease (ALD) model. The topic is within the scope of the WJG. (1) Classification: Grade C (2) Summary of the Peer-Review Report: The authors found examined the preventive effect of combined zinc supplementation and rifaximin from ALD-related liver fibrosis induced by ethanol plus carbon tetrachloride in mice. They found a multifaceted regulatory functions that maintain intestinal barrier integrity and reduce hepatic LPS exposure, leading to Kupffer cell expansion and hepatic 2	stellate cell activation by inhibiting the toll-like receptor 4 pathway.	[Y]
	The study suggest that the combined regimen may represent a potential novel strategy against ALD-related liver fibrosis. The concerns raised by the reviewer should be addressed. (3) Format:
	There are 0 tables and 6 figures (1 Supplementary Table and 2 Supplementary figures). (4) References: 53 references (5) Self-cited references: There are 3 self-cited papers (6) References recommendations: none 2. Language evaluation: Classification: Grade B. A language editing certificate issued was provided. 3.
	Academic norms and rules: The authors provided the Biostatistics Review Certificate, the signed Conflict-of-Interest Disclosure Form and Copyright License Agreement, and the Institutional Review Board Approval Form. Written informed consent was waived. No academic misconduct was found. 4 Supplementary comments: This is basic research paper. 5. Issues raised: major issues raised include (1) They should use multiple detection methods to explain the same phenotypic change, rather than explain different phenotypic changes by the same detection method, which is easy to produce a certain degree of arbitrary conclusion. (2) Several other comments about experimental methods are noted in the review paper. 6. Re-Review: Required 7. Recommendation: Major revision.

	Company Editor-in-Chief: I have reviewed the Peer-Review Report, the full text of the manuscript, and the relevant ethics documents, all of which have met the basic publishing requirements of the World Journal of Gastroenterology, and the manuscript is conditionally accepted. I have sent the manuscript to the author(s) for its revision according to the Peer-Review Report, Editorial Office's comments and the Criteria for Manuscript Revision by Authors. Before final acceptance, uniform presentation should be used for figures showing the same or similar contents; for example,

3	The fixed headings are copied.	[Y]
	The title concisely summarizes the main topic of the study and is 4	not too long (no more than 18 words). Words such as 'exploration',	F 3/1
	'research', 'analysis', 'observation', and 'investigation' are avoided.	[Y]

	The authors' full family (sur)names and full/abbreviated first 6	names are listed on the title page and are consistent with those	[Y] listed in the signed BPG Copyright License Agreement form.
	The 'Author contributions' passage describes the specific

The 'INTRODUCTION' section clearly describes the relevant background information for the study. Only the most relevant and current (within the past 5 years) literature is cited, with the exception of rare instances of seminal literature citations. All technical terms and/or abbreviations are explained and/or defined, with the full name of abbreviations given upon first appearance in the text and the abbreviation presented in parentheses [i.e., "computed tomography (CT)"]. First-person pronouns (e.g., 'I', 'we') are used appropriately to clearly indicate the work performed by the author(s). When weaknesses of previous studies are described in the text to highlight the innovations related to the current study, the information is presented carefully. The 'MATERIALS AND METHODS' section clearly and accurately describes all materials and methods used to obtain the data presented in the article and is adequate for a reader to repeat the study. The 'RESULTS' section concisely describes the observational and experimental results. Representative data and data that have scientific significance are emphasized. Data is presented in either the text, a table or figure (i.e., chart, diagram, graph or image), but is not repeated among each. Information presented in the tables and figures clearly describes the trends, meaning, and inferences. Results described in textual form are accurate, concise and clear. Statistical symbols are accurate. Statistical significance is expressed as "P < 0.05, "P < 0.01 (P > 0.05 usually does not need to be denoted). If there are other series of P values, "P < 0.05 and "P < 0.01 are used, and a third series of P values is expressed as "P < 0.05 and "P < 0.01 are used, and a third series of P values is expressed as "P < 0.05 and "P < 0.01 are used, and a third series of P values is expressed as "P < 0.05 and "P < 0.01 are used.

19	The 'DISCUSSION' section (1) describes the main purpose and hypothesis of the study; (2) summarizes the most important results;
	(3) illustrates and explains the results (but does not simply repeat the data) and draws conclusions or inferences based on the results;	[Y] (4) points out the limitations of the study and their impact on the results, as well as proposes further advice on future research topic(s) or direction(s); and (5) describes the theoretical significance and practical value of the findings.
	The 'ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS' section expresses gratitude to any individuals or organizations for technical support (i.e., providing 20	instrumentation, equipment or experimental materials, and/or	[N]
20	assistance in experimental work), non-technical services (i.e., useful inspiration, suggestions, guidance, or review), and/or any other auxiliary work.	1
21	The 'ARTICLE HIGHLIGHTS' section provides comments for	[V]
21	original articles in accordance with the specified format.	[Y]
	The 'REFERENCES' section lists the references in the Vancouver style. This style uses Arabic numeral in-text citations based on the order of the first appearance of a source in the text. For citations where the author's name is indicated in the text, a superscript number should be placed following the name (i.e, "Pang et al"). For citations where no author is indicated, a superscript number should 22	be placed at the end of the sentence. Respective examples are: "Ma ^[1]	[Y] reported", "Pan et al ^[2-5] indicated"; "PCR has a high sensitivity ^[6,9] ." No superscript numbers are used when the reference number is described in the text; for example, "The experimental method used has been described in reference [8]." The style of reference citations in tables is the same as that in the text (e.g., Pan et $al^{[2-5]}$, please see reference [8]).

	references not yet included in PubMed: the name of Chinese journals is spelled out using Chinese Pinyin, with the first letter of	[V] 23	each word capitalized (e.g., Shijie Huaren Xiaohua Zazhi); the name of	[Y] journals in other languages are listed according to indexing information retrieved from Google. Book references are presented

	The names of the peer reviewers and the scientific editor are present 26	at the end of the paper (e.g., P-Reviewer: Hugot D S-Editor: Wang	[Y] JL).
	The order and numerical labeling of tables and figures is consistent with their appearance and presentation in the text. Symbols in tables (e.g., +, -, \times , \div , *) correctly correspond to the definitions in the 27	footnotes. Only one legend is provided for each multi-panel figure	r 1 consisting of color graphs, black and white graphs, or line graphs that depicts data of the same theme. For example: Figure 1
