

Reviewer 1:

We the authors thank you for taking the time to review our submission and have the following responses for your comments:

- The English language was only selected in order to use a language widely understood and to remove the possibility of mistranslation.
- Vertebral alterations were excluded because these are often not isolated injuries and spinal cord injuries can cause severe complications and affect multiple body systems unlike other fractures.
- Material and Methods section has been added
- This study does not meet the guidelines of PROSPERO as it is not a systematic review. An article impact score has been added to the table

Reviewer 2:

We the authors thank you for taking the time to review our submission. We have added our own perspectives on this topic and the discussion has been expanded.

Reviewer 3:

We the authors thank you for taking the time to review our submission and have the following responses for your comments:

- The reasoning for using PubMed is to have access to all articles from the National Library of Medicine including open access articles which are not accessible on all other databases
- The current knowledge on this topic has been expanded to include gaps in literature
- The manuscript has been altered to be more elaborate in the implications of the previously described literature
- Abbreviations and acronyms have been defined