

To the Editor

The authors have a good-level capability to write in English. Also, the manuscript text has been revised and checked by an online program for English language (Grammarly). So, a certificate of Non-Native Speakers of English Editing is not needed.