Thank you very much for your thoughts on the manuscript. We have revised the discussion and removed a portion of it, without prejudice to the proposed rationale. Regarding the comparison of our data with data from other countries, this was placed in the discussion in text form. We find it more pertinent not to put these data in table form since the serology studies are very different from each other - the type of COVID-19 (mild or severe), availability of sampling time after diagnosis, presence or absence of comorbidity, provision of antibody titration, different sensitivity and specificity of the serology kits used, etc.
