

Dear Sir/Madam

As you need us to submit the English editing service certificate, as India is a non-native English-speaking country. We have checked our manuscript using some online softwares such as Grammarly, and as per that software there are no concerns in the English language used in the manuscript. Additionally, we have contacted a service company (as suggested by the editor) that offers this editing service. They will charge us as per the amount of work (in terms of editing) they will be doing on the manuscript. I hereby request that you kindly waive these charges for us, as firstly our manuscript is an invited article. Secondly, neither our institute nor our funding agencies support us for any such charges, and no author is in a position to pay any such charges. Thanks, in anticipation.
