

This article is a retrospective study with descriptive and analytic biostatistical procedures. Comparative and multivariate analyses were performed by the authors themselves, because they have skills enough to carry out these statistical procedures, using the software described in the text.

Accordingly, biostatistics review certificate is not needed.