

The dataset used in this study was de-identified, thus the need for patients' informed consent was waived by the Congolese Health Ethics Committee.