SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

(1) The overall structure of the manuscript is complete and contains a title, abstract, keywords, core tip, introduction, case presentation and results, discussion, acknowledgments, and references. (2) The scientific question is to emphasize the beneficial effect of the administration of venetoclax along with a hypomethylating drug (HMA) in patients with T/myeloid mixed-phenotype acute leukemia (MPAL). This is presented in the introduction section, along with the relevant background, rationale, aim, significant findings, and potential significance of the given case. Therefore, this section is suitable to attract readers' attention. (3) The methods and techniques adopted in the paper are presented in the Methods section. Besides, the manuscript provides adequate details of methods to allow a reader to repeat the research. (4) The data source is reliable and indicated by the information presented in the case presentation section. However, pathological diagnostic findings (such as blood smears and/or bone marrow biopsies) should be submitted as microscopic figures. (5) The conclusion of the case presentation is presented. This section should be ameliorated to inform the readers briefly about the contributions of the data to the field. Besides, the future research directions should be given in detail. (7) The manuscript cites all critical, relevant, and timely references. (8) There is no indication of academic misconduct in the study. (9) The manuscript contributes to understanding the pathogenesis of the disease and treatment. (11) The manuscript describes an important direction of research (12) The title of the manuscript does not contain grammatical errors. (13) The manuscript falls within the scope of WJCC (14) The language of the paper needs to reach the standard of publishing, and minor revisions are required. Peer-reviewer's Conclusion: The manuscript falls within the scope of WJCC. The experiences and lessons presented in the manuscript improve the readers' practice. The content of the manuscript has value for publication. However, necessitate revisions according to the comments listed above.
