To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I have proofread and revised the English in the manuscript “Impact of high glucose on the metastasis of colon cancer cells”, by Cheng-Yao Lin, MD<sup>1,2</sup>, Chih-Hui Lee, MD<sup>3</sup>, Chien-Cheng Huang, MD<sup>4,5</sup>, Song-Tay Lee, PhD<sup>6</sup>, Shih-Bin Su, MD, PhD<sup>7,8</sup>, Chia-Ho Lin, MD<sup>9</sup> (<sup>1</sup>Division of Hematology-Oncology, Department of Internal Medicine, Chi Mei Medical Center, Liouying, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>2</sup>Department of Dental Laboratory Technology, Min-Hwei College of Health Care Management, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>3</sup>Department of Public Health, National Cheng Kung University, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>4</sup>Department of Emergency Medicine, Chi-Mei Medical Center, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>5</sup>Department of Child Care and Education, Southern Taiwan University of Science and Technology, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>6</sup>Department of Biotechnology, Southern Taiwan University of Science and Technology, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>7</sup>Department of Occupational Medicine, Chi-Mei Medical Center, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>8</sup>Department of Medical Research, Chi Mei Medical Center, Liouying, Tainan, Taiwan; <sup>9</sup>Division of Urology, Department of Surgery, Chi Mei Medical Center, Liouying, Tainan, Taiwan).

I also certify that, when this manuscript left my computer, it contained no grammatical errors; however, I cannot prevent authors from making changes to their own manuscripts, regardless of whether they are aware of how they may affect the usage or grammar rules for the words or phrases changed. This manuscript may contain disputed English usages and what some critics object to as “Americanisms”, which are difficult for me to eliminate because I am an American, but these are matters of style that in no way affect the content of the manuscript.

I am a native speaker of American English with an MA in Linguistics. I taught English as a Foreign Language at universities in Far East Asia from April 1983 through January 2009, and retired on January 31, 2009, after 11.5 years as a full-time English teacher in the Department of Applied English, Southern Taiwan University of Technology, Tainan, Taiwan. I have been professionally editing biomedical articles in Taiwan since 1997. I worked full-time as a technical writer and medical editor for seven months for the Institute for Innovation and Advanced Studies (IIAS) and for The College of Medicine, National Cheng Kung University, Tainan, Taiwan.

On the next page are multiple images: one of my USA passport (710496104) ID page to verify my nationality, one of my Taiwan Alien Permanent Resident Certificate (RC00131847) to verify my local address, one of my old Southern Taiwan University of Technology faculty ID card (08608020), and one of my National Cheng Kung University employee ID card (9806018) to verify my former employment.

Sincerely yours,
