2 Revision has been made according to the suggestions of the reviewer and editor

Dear editor:

We are very pleased to submit a revised version of our review manuscript, "Therapeutic targets in gastrointestinal stromal tumors ", for consideration as a publication in World Journal of Translational Medicine.

According to reviewers' comments, we have added all information including author contribution, core tip, PMID and DOI of references, and the abbreviation in the figures and tables. Mr. Grant Eilers from Harvard Medical School and American Journal Experts have done for proof-reading. Although the criticisms from one of our reviewers were useful, I would like to write the other topic review article by the PRISMA statement in the near future. We are very appreciative of the constructive criticisms from our reviewers, and we believe the revised manuscript is substantially improved.

3 References and typesetting were corrected

We would be delighted to respond to any additional criticisms that might arise in re-review of the manuscript, and – again – we are most grateful to have this opportunity to resubmit our manuscript. Thank you again for publishing our manuscript in the World Journal of Translational Medicine.

Yours sincerely,
