

Institutional review board statement

The study was reviewed and approved by the Virginia Mason Medical Center Institutional Review Board (IRB). Informed consent from individual patients was not required by the IRB given the nature of the study (retrospective review of medical records) and the lack of identifiable patient information in the study.