We are gratified to see that the reviewers agree this paper to be published in the World Journal of Clinical Oncology. We appreciate the reviewer's insightful comments, which were very helpful in allowing us to improve our manuscript.

We have addressed all comments raised during review with a point-by-point response below. All changes in the manuscript have been highlighted with red text.

Comments:

1. The author of this review aimed to evaluate the microsurgical breast reconstruction for patients with breast cancer. And authors found the conclusion that 'microsurgical breast reconstruction is a safe procedure with low donor site morbidities and excellent aesthetic results.' The authors raised up a valuable issue in this study. Also there were some figures in this study to support opinion of authors. I agree this paper to be published in your journal.

We would like to thank the reviewer for his/her favorable comments.

2. The language evaluation by Reviewer 1 was rated B: minor language polishing

We thank the reviewer for pointing this out. A native speaker has reviewed the manuscript.

Sincerely,
