

Non-Native Speakers of English Editing Certificate

We would like to submit the manuscript "Hepatopulmonary syndrome: what we know and what we would like to know" for publication in the "World Journal of Gastroenterology". All the authors are non-native speakers of English, therefore, we invited Mr. G. Giddings to translate the final version of this paper. He has been the general director of the linguistic services company Idiomas First Class, S.L. since 1990. The said company carries out technical translations from all areas, specializing in technology, medicine, pharmaceuticals and transport, in collaboration with the University of Seville, the Regional Government of Andalusia and various Andalusian medical entities (hospitals and clinics) as well as international pharmaceutical companies.
