Plagiarism Policy

When small plagiarized passages, single sentences with only 1-2 total in the entire manuscript, are found in our client-authors' documents during the editing process, the editor will highlight the passage for easy recognition by the author in the completely edited document and request the author to re-write it in their own words and return it for those 1-2 small passages to be edited subsequently. However, when substantial plagiarism, defined as >3 sentences, is found, the editor will stop working on the document and immediately return it to the author to address all plagiarized passages before the editing process can continue.

If the author chooses to not rewrite the substantially plagiarized passages, then the entire editing fee will be forfeited and the project will be considered completed. If the author chooses to rewrite the passages, we will gladly accept the updated version of the manuscript for completion of the editing process. In this case, the updated manuscript will be returned to the original editor for the continued editing work and the turnaround time will be modified to correspond to the appropriate service type originally contracted by the author.

For substantially plagiarized passages, the author will be granted one week to inform Filipodia Publishing of their decision to rewrite and return the document to continue the editing service. The updated version of the manuscript may be returned at any time within the next two weeks. It is possible that the quality of the rewritten text will require a more intensive editing type (and corresponding change in service fee) for the modified text only; this potential situation will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.

Acceptance of terms and conditions

I, (sign here)  _____, agree to the terms and conditions outlined above and approve the proposed service by Filipodia Publishing, LLC.
