

August 19, 2016

Certificate of Editing

To whom it may concern:

This letter certifies that Dr. Ryota Niikura's manuscript entitled "Current state of practice for colonic diverticular bleeding in 37 hospitals in Japan: A multicenter questionnaire study" has been professionally edited by a native speaker with the author's field. Assuming that the author has made no additional changes to the text, the manuscript should meet the grammatical standards required by an English-language publication.

ThinkSCIENCE K.K. is a Japan-based company specializing in providing high-quality editing, proofreading, and translation services to Japanese authors in all fields of science, medicine and technology. We also support the work of academic journals and societies, and corporations. If you would like more information about our services or policies, please feel free to contact us.

Sincerely,

John Zepernick
Managing Editor
ThinkSCIENCE, Inc.

