

Dear Sirs:

Reviewers only say that References were not included in the document.

1. I have included references with PMID and doi
2. I have included running title, fax number, key words and number of words.
3. I think that this paper is not a typical editorial only is a comment about the special issue that I have been performing so I think that core tip and abstract is not necessary. In the web core tip is the first sentence of the paper and that is not correct.

If you think that it is necessary an abstract/core tip:

Hilar cholangiocarcinoma is still a challenge for radiologists, surgeons and oncologists. His difficult diagnosis, the technical demanding surgeries needed and the absence of active drugs make his management very complex and a plea for multidisciplinary teams. In this special issue, a group of physicians devoted to cholangiocarcinoma have tried to update the most recent advances in this topic.
