Title: A case of rapidly progressing leiomyosarcoma combined with squamous cell carcinoma in the esophagus

Author: Su Sun Jang, Woo Tae Kim, Bong Suk Ko, Eun Hae Kim, Jong Ok Kim, Kuhn Park, Seung Woo Lee

Name of Journal: World Journal of Gastroenterology

ESPS Manuscript NO: 2751

The manuscript has been improved according to the suggestions of reviewers:

1 Format has been updated

2. Revision has been made according to the suggestions of the reviewer

A. Answer to the reviewer's suggestions

(1) We changed the title and running title : rapid progressing -> rapidly progressing

(2) Introduction, 4th line : Esophageal leiomyosarcoma and squamous cell carcinoma were simultaneously first described by Ovens et al. in 1951 -> Simultaneous esophageal leiomyosarcoma and squamous cell carcinoma were first described by Ovens et al. in 1951

- (3) Discussion, page 6, 6th line : It is possible that combined squamous cell carcinoma may affect the growth of leiomyosarcoma by cytokines or growth factors -> It is possible that these are separate entities that have arisen independently and combined squamous cell carcinoma may affect the growth of leiomyosarcoma by cytokines or growth factors.
- (4) Figure Legends (Figure 2) : well enhancing soft tissue mass -> homogeneously enhancing soft tissue mass
- (5) Figure 3B and in the text(page 4, Case report, 15th line) : Compared with the previous PET-CT from 3 months prior -> Compared with the previous PET-CT for colon cancer follow-up from 3 months prior
- (6) We replaced Figure 5B with low power magnification image that include negative and positive controls.
- (7) We added a sentence about the details of the immunohistochemical staining procedure(page 5, 5th line, Case report) : These were stained by automated Ventana immunohistochemical / in situ hybridization staining platforms machine(BenchMark XT)
