Name of Journal: World Journal of Experimental Medicine

ESPS Manuscript NO: 28613

Manuscript Type: LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor of the World Journal of Experimental Medicine

Regarding the manuscript published by our research group (World J Exp Med 2015; 5: 160-163), and a recently published letter to the editor (World J Exp Med, 2016; 6: 55-57), I am sending the revised manuscript. All the reviewers' suggestions were accepted:

Page 4. Line 11. "So deeply" changed for have not discussed this in detail and as thoroughly as Pinto and Melo.

Page 4. Line 12. "just expressed deeply" changed for have detailed the current research status.

We would like to reply that letter, since these authors wrongly interpreted our editorial. The opinions expressed and other related facts are under my responsibility. The theme discussed has gained attention last years and there are evidences that it is an important emerging disease in animals. This letter was sent only to the current periodic. All authors have given their opinions and agreed with the final result and the subscription of the manuscript.

Sincerely,

Ricardo Evandro Mendes
