To whom it may concern,

I have reviewed the statistical methods of this study with the title of "NADPH oxidase-1 deficiency offers litter protection in mice infected by Salmonella Typhimurium", with the corresponding author of Fong-Fong Chu, PhD.

I know that Dr. Chu and Dr. Qian Gao, MD, PhD have on-going collaboration and I am glad to assist them to make sure they are using the proper statistical analysis on their projects. I found the methods used for data analysis are appropriate and could not find any pitfall with them.

Sincerely,

Lianlian Du MScI
