COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This is the Therapeutic advances paper regarding clinical supervision of CBT with youth.
 1. The paper is well-written and has educational information. 2. The reference section has many journal title errors. A journal title should be described as an abbreviated form. For example, No.4, 7: “Journal of Clinical Child & Adolescent Psychology” should be changed to “J Clin Child Adolesc Psychol” No 5: “Am J of Psych” should be changed to “Am J Psychol” No 6: “Medical Science Monitor: International Medical Journal of Experimental and Clinical Research” should be changed to “Med Sci Monit” No 8: “J Am Acad Chld Adol Psy” should be changed to “J Am Acad Child Adolesc Psychiatry” No 14: “Adm Pol Mntl Hlth Serv Res” should be changed to “Adm Policy Ment Health” No.16: “Psych Srvs” should be changed to “Psychiatr Serv”

COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

I read with interest this manuscript. A few aspects can be improved. Supervising child psychiatrists in cognitive behavioral therapy needs to be expanded. Training in collaborative empiricism is an indispensable pedagogical task and collaboration is especially valuable since it promotes trust and fosters experimentation with techniques. The empiricism part of the equation refers to the transparent data based nature of CBT with youth. More most recent publications are missing. Metasupervision what are the challenges and limitations? Can you explain in more detail?
