

Letter from the editor

Thank you for using our service!

Please go through the edited document, the editor's comments, and the messages in this letter.

If you have questions about the edit, or if your editor has left comments for you, please send your questions and clarifications to us so we can provide you with a finalized paper. There is no charge for questions.

If you make any further changes to the edited document, please send it back to us for a final language check. This final check is important because the journal may ask you to improve the English and resubmit the paper upon spotting even minor language errors. Depending on the extent of revisions, the recheck will be done either for free or at a discounted rate.

Message from your editor

Dear Author,

It was a pleasure working on your document. Do go through my changes and comments in the edited file.

Generally, your manuscript is very well-written and you will see that my edit is light in places. I have ensured that abbreviations are defined on their first use, and have divided some long sentences to improve their readability. I have also added the definite article in a number of instances to improve the flow of text. Finally, I added "respectively" in several places in your results to ensure clarity in your data.

Thank you for the opportunity to edit your manuscript. I wish you the best of luck with your submission.

Kind regards,
Editor
