COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The framework of manuscript is intact and English writing is very smooth. Although this study is not creative, it is potentially valuable and interesting. Some doubts require clarification: 1. Typing errors should be re-checked and the reference style should be written consistently. The abbreviation should be re-checked. e.g. ref. 15. The Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery British volume or J Bone Joint Surg [Br]? 2. Was TKA for knee fusion performed at 56-yr-old or 62-yr-old? Inconsistence in the text. 3. In Discussion section, the authors should describe the surgical technique and considerations in detail during performing segmental resection of the femur and femoral stem. How to preserve or replace the prior endoprosthesis without touching the possible malignancy? This surgical procedure should be the most important lesson for all orthopedic surgeons. Other deducing diagnostic tools can be achieved in a number of
