Dear Dr. Wang,

Re: Biostatistics Review Certificate

De-identified data were recorded in a Microsoft Excel (2011) spreadsheet and then transferred to SPSS Version 25.0 (IBM SPSS Inc., Chicago, IL, USA) for statistical analysis. Numerical data were presented as median and inter-quartile range (IQR). The association of severity of duodenal blunting to symptoms and serology were examined using logistic regression.

Given the basic and straightforward nature of the statistical methods, a biostatistician was not used.

Yours Sincerely,
