Laparoscopic celiac plexus ganglioneuroma resection: A case report

Pouya Hemmati, Omar Ghanem, Juliane Bingener

Abstract

Background: Ganglioneuromas are mature, benign neurogenic tumors that arise from neural crest-derived cells. Given the rarity of these tumors and their often close proximity to major vessels, there is a paucity of reports in the literature of minimally invasive resections of ganglioneuromas near the celiac plexus. We report a case of laparoscopic resection of a retroperitoneal ganglioneuroma adhering to the portal vein
