To: Laila Babar; Laila Babar

The following study has been reviewed by the IRB:

Study Title: temporal trends and disease characteristics associated with total neoadjuvant therapy use in locally advanced rectal cancer
Principal Investigator: Babar, Laila MD

The IRB has reviewed this information and finds that this protocol does not fall under the purview of the IRB as it does not meet the definition of human subject research according to the federal code of regulations: 45 CFR 46.102(f).

If the project should be revised at any time, for any reason, please provide a copy of the updated information to the IRB for reassessment.
