INTRODUCTION

HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION OF THE UNIT

The PCNA unit, UMR 0914, was set up in 2002. It resulted from the merger of an Inra research unit with the Human Nutrition research and teaching staff at INA-P/G (renamed AgroParisTech in 2007). The unit is localized at AgroParisTech in Paris and belongs to two organisms: AgroParisTech (Département Sciences de la Vie et Santé, SVS) and Inra (Département Alimentation Humaine, ALIMH)). PNCA is also an active member of the Labex network ALIAS (Aliment, Alimentation et Santé) created as part of the Idex of Paris-Saclay University. The unit administratively depends on the Jouy-en-Josas Inra Research Centre. It is also a member of Paris-Saclay University.

The unit is located in the 5th borough of Paris, but it will move to Palaiseau in 2021, in the frame of the merger project of AgroParisTech sites and its participation to University Paris-Saclay.

MANAGEMENT TEAM

The unit has been headed by Mr D. Tomé and since 2018 by Ms C. Gaudichon, with Mr F. Blachier as deputy director.

HCÉRES NOMENCLATURE

SVE5_1.

SCIENTIFIC DOMAIN

PCNA features a wide range of research topics, addressing intestinal adaptations, protein metabolism, amino-acid metabolism, energy homeostasis, alimentary behavior, neuroscience of dietary behavior, body composition, and body weight, in various physiological and pathological situations, and in the context of clinical practice, including the prevention of the metabolic syndrome.
