

Dear editor

Thank you to consider the article, entitled "Oral Manifestations in Patients with Diabetes Mellitus", and appreciate the honorable reviewer for his/her valuable comments. The description was given as following and highlighted in the article:

1. Given that this article is a mini-review and refers only to the oral complications due to diabetes, I only briefly mentioned the mechanism of these complications and I did not discuss it in detail. Of course, despite this explanation, if the respectable referee's opinion is still to add to the discussion of the mechanism, I would obey.
2. The prevalence/incidence of the complications in diabetics and non-diabetics was added as much as possible to the text.
3. Grammatical errors were corrected as far as possible.
4. Images of oral manifestations were added to the text.
