

English Language Certificate
World Journal of Clinical Cases

Manuscript title: Pathogens causing diarrhoea among Bangladeshi children with malignancy: Results from two pilot studies.

Authors: Sabina Karim, Ferdousi Begum, Afiquil Islam, Monowar Ahmad Tarafdar, Mamtaz Begum, Md. Johirul Islam, Bushra Malik, Md. Shamim Ahsan, Ameneh Khatami, and Harunor Rashid.

The manuscript was re-read and where needed was edited by a co-author Dr Ameneh Khatami. Dr Khatami is a native of New Zealand, had all her schoolings in English and studied at Auckland and Oxford universities, conducted research at New York University School of Medicine, and is currently a faculty member of the University of Sydney. She speaks, reads and writes only English. Dr Khatami has authored over 50 research publications, and many guidelines, protocols and grants.

Sincerely yours

Harunor Rashid

Harunor Rashid MBBS, DCH, DTM, AFTM (RCPS, Glasgow), MD
Senior Research Officer, National Centre for Immunisation Research and Surveillance (NCIRS)
Clinical Associate Professor, The University of Sydney Children's Hospital Westmead Clinical School
Cnr Hawkesbury Road and Hainsworth Street, Westmead Locked Bag 4001, Westmead NSW 2145, Australia
e: harunor.rashid@health.nsw.gov.au; t: +61 29845 1489; f: +61 29845 1418