Very interesting study. In this study, the authors analyzed the influence of a positive behavior management model based on cognitive framework on the degree of hope and self-efficacy of patients with breast cancer surgery. About 84 breast cancer patients were included. The groups are divided properly. The treatment are reasonable. Results are interesting and important. Comments: 1. A minor language editing is required. Some minor language polishing should be corrected. 2. The figure 1 is really meaningful? What's the authors aim to add this figure? Please make an explain or delete it. 3. References are updated, but required an editing.
