

Answering Reviewers

Dear Reviewers,

Thanks for your manuscript reviewing. I am very appreciate very much for the valuable advice. This manuscript have been revised, and I got some help from a person fluent in English.

In abstract, background, 1st sentence, I changed the second part of the sentence to "...caused by rapid increases in serum sodium concentration in patients with hyponatremia." You gave me two reason to revise this sentence, and I think the sentence revised more accurate and unambiguous. Besides, Abstract, case summary, 1st sentence: I changed the sentence as follows: "A 27-year-old Chinese man developed anorexia, vomiting and limb weakness and was diagnosed with pituitary insufficiency." And in the same section (case summary), I added a sentence of the patient's physical status at the end stating when his stay at the rehabilitation department. Then in the part of History of present illness, 2nd paragraph, I changed the adjective "ambiguous" to "defective".

Finally, Thank you very much for your constructive and detailed suggestion. I have managed to modify this manuscript in accordance with your feedback.

Your sincerely,

Ming-Xuan Yang, Xue-Nong Chen
