Language Editing Declaration

Respected Editorial Board Members of World Journal of Clinical Cases,

Warm greetings from Nagoth Joseph Amrythraj. It is my privilege to present my view on the article 52620 entitled “Awareness during emergence from anesthesia. Features and future research directions”.

Having written and studied the article, I evaluate it as an adequate, appropriate and understandable work. The matter presented in it is correct and authentic.

I declare that the paper is free from typographical and grammatical errors. Language used in the paper is clear enough to convey the scientific information meaningfully and in an appropriate manner. Therefore, the paper is very much clear and is eligible for evaluation of technical content.

I was able to present my assessment on this paper, because I am an Anglo-Indian. My father is of English origin and my schooling is in English medium. Therefore, I am able to understand with ease, virtually everything I read, heard and studied. In addition, I am able to summarize coherently the information gathered in the paper from different spoken or written sources. I can express myself precisely, fluently and spontaneously, differentiating finer shades of meaning even in more complex situations because of my background. Therefore, with this confidence and courage I strongly recommend the article for publication with or without English correction. Thanking you.

The co-author
