(1) Reviewer #1: Interesting method which may increase the success rate of ERCP in this difficult setting. Nice figures which convince the readers. I think that your manuscript could be published.

Author: Thank you for your good comprehension in our manuscript. Thank you.

(2) Reviewer #2: This article provides a very good explanation of how to perform ERCP in pt with BII and BA with excellent figures. Our concern main concern is that is anecdotal and does not provide any data on their success rate using this technique. However, it is still useful information to publish.

Author: Thank you for your good comprehension in our manuscript. Thank you for your good suggestion. 20 patients who received Billroth II gastroenterostomy and Braun anastomosis, between January 2009 and May 2013 were included in our center. The overall success rate of enterography was 85% for the patients who had a Billroth II gastroenterostomy and Braun anastomosis, and the therapeutic success rate was 80%. Thank you.
