SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

In this study, the authors aimed to study the effect of home-based nursing for postpartum depression patients on their quality of life and depression. They concluded Postpartum depression through home-based nursing can effectively alleviate depression and improve the quality of life of patients, help control their estradiol, progesterone and other serum levels, and improve their satisfaction with nursing. The study is well-designed, the results are adequately interpreted in the discussion and the manuscript is suitably written. I congratulate the authors for their successful work.

Answer to reviewer 1#:

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This is an interesting paper that aimed to explain that home-based nursing for patients with clinical postpartum depression can effectively improve their various hormone levels, play an effective role in alleviating their depression or depressed mood, and improve their quality of life and nursing satisfaction. Tables and Figures are clear and exhaustive. The paper requires minor revision, which are listed below. 1. The section of background in the abstract is missing. 2. The format of units should be conform to the standard.

Answer to reviewer 2#:

Thank you very much for your time to review this manuscript. We really appreciate it. Your suggestions have enabled us to improve our work. Based on the instructions provided in your letter, we uploaded the file of the revised manuscript. This is our point-by-point response to the comments. The comments are reproduced and our responses are given directly afterward in a different color. We would like also to thank you for allowing us to resubmit a revised copy of the manuscript.

1. The section of background in the abstract is missing

Response: Thank you for pointing this out. The section of background has been added in the abstract.

2. The format of units should be conform to the standard

Response: Thank you for underlining this deficiency. The format of units and data has been revised.
