SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The authors reported Sweet's Syndrome as a paraneoplastic manifestation of a cholangiocarcinoma. This is an interesting case report. Comment: 1. The title: misspelled syndrome 2. There are errors of English Grammar and usage. Please correct or ask a native English speaker to make sure the errors/usages are corrected. 3. In the discussion, the authors need not to list the two journals' name in page 6: "the British Journal of Dermatology" and "Case of Reports in Medicine". They can be cited in the references. 4. The introduction and discussion: some sentences and contents are repeated. 5. Hope the authors can provide a histologic picture of the biopsy diagnosis of cholangiocarcinoma in the revision.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This interesting manuscript describes a case report of a 58 years old woman with cholangiocarcinoma developing sweet's syndrome as a paraneoplastic manifestation. The paper has merit since the rare association of cholangiocarcinoma with the sweet's syndrome. The data are complete and also the language is fluent. The Reviewer has only few points to address. MINOR • A typo is present in the title since the word "Syndrome" is misspelled. • Fig.4: Some arrows should be inserted into the figures to describe the histological aspects.
