SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The case report has clinical significance. It compares similar cases from NCBI in recent years, and the content writing is smooth and reasonable. 1. The possible mechanism background of pheochromocytomas needs to be supplemented in the introduction section. 2. The author needs to add the Institutional Review Board (IRB) number to the draft. 3. The patient has received surgical treatment, whether he has also received tumor treatment such as chemotherapy, targeted therapy, etc. These need to be clearly written in the draft. 4. If the authors add more figure or concept diagram, it will make more interest of this case report. 5. The author needs to greatly improve the quality of tissue section photos, which is currently unclear in Fig 2 C to F.
