Manuscript ID: 58819: Discontinuous Polyostotic Fibrous Dysplasia with Unique Genetic Mutations: Case Report and Literature Review In the manuscript, the authors present a case of Polyostotic Fibrous Dysplasia (PFD) with unusual characteristics from a clinical, laboratory, and genetic research profile. ....

1. I suggest that the title of the manuscript be modified and emphasized the observed because it is a different syndrome from the commonly observed.

Response: Thank you for pointing out this. We have changed the title and the new title is “Discontinuous Polyostotic Fibrous Dysplasia with Multiple Systemic Disorders and Unique Genetic Mutations: Case Report and Literature Review”.

2. I suggest that the reference concerning CARE be placed at the end of the introduction as it is the method followed for writing the article.

Response: Thank you for pointing out this. We have placed the related content at the end of the introduction and mark it with underline.

3. I request that the text of the manuscript be retyped (errors) and the English presented to me as I am not a native speaker of the English language at certain times or in parts of the article, the understanding was extremely difficult.

Response: Thank you for pointing out this. The latest manuscript submitted has been retyped carefully and also checked by an English native medical editor associated with a professional English language editing company, Quicklyden Co., Ltd.
