SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Thank you for the invitation to review the manuscript by Czubkowski et al. The paper reports on the case of a child with farnesoid X receptor deficiency. Since there are only a few cases reported so far, this paper could contribute to better understanding of the pathology and disease course and it highlights important diagnostic findings. Case presentation and discussion are well written and emphasize the main point of the paper. However, some parts of the manuscript; abstract, introduction, case summary demand some editing: sentences need to be more concise and better structured. In conclusion, the paper has a valuable point, but needs corrections before publishing.
