

Dear Editors:

We are pleased to re-submit the manuscript entitled “Searching for the valuable clinical indicators for distinguishing infantile-onset inflammatory bowel disease (IO-IBD) patients with monogenic diseases”(NO.60117) which have been revised as request. We have made a point-by-point response to the issues raised in the peer review report, which are listed below:

1. Reviewer #1: Table 4 and Table 5 may be revised to explain the OR more in detail. The reason why adjusted odds ratio was 1.04 for IL-10 may be discussed in the risk indicators of M-IBD.

We have added the explanations below the Table 4 and Table 5.

We have discussed the reason why adjusted odds ratio was 1.04 for IL-10 in fifth paragraph of the discussion part.
