Sentinel Node Biopsy for Breast Cancer Patients: Issues ...europepmc.org/articles/PMC3018621

In the sentinel lymph node (SLN) era, axillary lymph node dissection (ALND) for uninvolved axillary lymph nodes should be considered unnecessary and inappropriate. The sentinel lymph node biopsy sensitivity is more than 90%, its specificity 100%, its accuracy more than 95%, and ...

However, in many cases a pathologist fails to provide relevant information chiefly due to the lack of awareness of the impact of these parameters in clinical decision-making. This review seeks to put forth common practice points in grossing and reporting of specimens harboring breast cancer with focus on latest evidence in the arena. [ 2020 ]
