Language Certificate

Dear Editor,

This is to certify that the manuscript entitled “Current impact of viral hepatitis on liver cancer development – the challenge remains” was reviewed for grammatical clarity and appropriate vocabulary by the senior author, who is proficient in English and has experience in English language editing of medical manuscripts. I have been publishing articles in leading scientific journals for many years and I have prepared this manuscript taking the utmost care. I certify that the language in the manuscript is of publishing quality.

Sincerely yours,

Angelo Zambam de Mattos

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Angelo Mattos", is centered below the typed name. The signature is written in a cursive style with a large initial 'A'.
