Science Editor: 1 Scientific quality: The manuscript describes a Review of molecular regulation mechanism of ferroptosis and its role in gastrointestinal oncology. The topic is within the scope of the WJGO. (1) Classification: Grade C; (2) Summary of the Peer-Review Report: the authors summarized recent research progress on the mechanism of ferroptosis and its role in gastrointestinal tumors. Ferroptosis is characterized by iron accumulation, excessive ROS production, and overwhelming lipid peroxidation, and is well known for a specific mechanism of sorafenib, but it is a mechanism that has recently attracted attention in the area of gastrointestinal disease, especially cancer. The topic is very appropriate, but there are some issues to raise. The questions raised by the reviewer 03478911 should be answered; (3) Format: There are 1 figure and 2 tables; (4) References: A total of 131 references are cited, including 54 references published in the last 3 years; (5) Self-cited references: 5 self-cited references; and (6) References recommendations: The authors have the right to refuse to cite improper references recommended by the peer reviewer(s), especially references published by the peer reviewer(s) him/herself (themselves). If the authors find the peer reviewer(s) request for the authors to cite improper references published by him/herself (themselves), please send the peer reviewer's ID number to editorialoffice@wjgnet.com. The Editorial Office will close and remove the peer reviewer from the F6Publishing system immediately. 2 Language evaluation: Classification: Grade B. A

The 'Core tip' provides a summary (less than 100 words) of the study that outlines the most innovative and important arguments and core contents of the paper and will serve to effectively attract readers.  The 'INTRODUCTION' section clearly describes the relevant background information for the study. Only the most relevant and current (within the past 5 years) literature is cited, with the exception of rare instances of seminal literature citations. All technical terms and/or abbreviations are explained and/or defined, with the full name of abbreviations given upon first appearance in the text and the abbreviation presented in parentheses [i.e., "computed tomography (CT)"]. First-person pronouns (e.g., 'T, 'we') are used appropriately to clearly indicate the work performed by the author(s). When weaknesses of previous studies are described in the text to highlight the innovations related to the current study, the information is presented carefully.  The 'MATERIALS AND METHODS' section clearly and accurately describes all materials and methods used to obtain the data presented in the article and is adequate for a reader to repeat the study.  The 'RESULTS' section concisely describes the observational and experimental results. Representative data and data that have scientific significance are emphasized. Data is presented in either the text, a table or figure (i.e., chart, diagram, graph or image), but is not repeated among each. Information presented in the tables and figures clearly describes the trends, meaning, and inferences. Results described in textual form are accurate, concise and clear.
