

The manuscript titled "Liver injury associated with drug intake during pregnancy" has been edited for language by the Corresponding Author, Dr Ashwin Kamath, to ensure that the manuscript meets requirements for academic publishing and adheres to the journal standards regarding manuscript quality. All the authors of this manuscript are English language speakers and experienced in English language publication.