Dear editor,

Firstly, we appreciate you and editorial members of World Journal of Gastroenterology for your valuable comments on our paper (65795: Comparison of Wei nasal jet tube and nasal cannula for supplemental oxygen during gastroscopy with propofol mono-sedation in obese patients: a prospective, randomized controlled trial).

Furthermore, we thank you for your suggestion transferring this paper to World Journal of Clinical Cases for possible publication. We completely agree with your recommendation that our manuscript is transferred into World Journal of Clinical Cases for publication.

Based on your suggestions, we have revised carefully this manuscript and improved the figure 1. Furthermore, we have asked American Journal Experts, a professional English language editing company by you, to perform a professional English language editing for our paper. Now, English language editing has been completed. We provide two copies of our revised manuscript. One copy has included all changes highlighted with revision change tracks by American Journal Experts; another copy is a clean version of the revised paper without revision change tracks to facilitate your review. In addition, the certificate of language editing has been uploaded into your system.

We are very pleased to submit this revised paper to World Journal of Clinical Cases. We solemnly declare that (1) each author contributes to the design and conduct of this work; (2) this paper has been written, read, and approved by all authors; (3) all authors attest to the validity and legitimacy of data, and agree to the modifications made on this new revision; (4) this paper has not been published, either in whole or in part, and is not under consideration for publication elsewhere; and (5) This study was supported by “Renfu” Research Fund by Chinese Society of Digestive Endoscopy, No. CSDE022020090001, but the funders had no role in study design, data collection or analysis, decision to publish, or preparation of the manuscript. Furthermore, all authors have no financial support and potential conflicts of interest for this work. In consideration of World Journal of Clinical Cases taking action in reviewing and editing our submission, all authors undersigned hereby transfers, assigns or otherwise conveys all copyright ownership to the editorial board of World Journal of Clinical Cases if this manuscript is published.
