Dear Professor Lee,

Re: Microbiome Programme at the National University of Singapore (NUS)

We refer to your letter dated 21 October 2017 in respect of the above.

We note you are embarking on a programme to advance the education and training of our younger generations of our nation in the emerging field of Microbiome.

Lee Foundation (LF) is pleased to support your meaningful cause with a donation of $3.5 million over 5 years (at $700,000 per year) and as itemised below:

1. $2.5 million over 5 years ($500,000/- per year) to establish a core group of trainers related to this field, such as educators, microbiologists, genome scientists, technicians, doctors and data engineers.
2. $1 million over 5 years (@ $200,000 per year) to the Microbiome Programme and Projects. The project LF would like to fund should focus specifically and restricted to the developing of knowledge and skillsets relevant to the students from various education background (up to 20 students) from Secondary Schools, Junior Colleges, Polytechnics and/or ITEs. This is to expose students to the new science of microbiome and enhance technical skills related to the field.

A cheque of $700,000/- made payable to "National University of Singapore" being the first instalment is enclosed. Kindly acknowledge receipt.

NUS will submit a detailed annual report of the utilisation of the funds before the next disbursement.

Yours truly,

Director
