SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

In this manuscript, the authors developed a mutual cooperation system and found this system can increase treatment duration and improve prognosis in patients with HFSR. In addition, the mutual cooperation system could be applied to the management of treatment with other multi-kinase inhibitors, which can prolong the overall survival of patients. In general, the research is novel. However, there are still several points should revise as follows: 1.The authors should perform the univariate analysis and multivariate analysis of BCLC staging B. 2.The authors should supply the Kaplan-Meier survival analysis of patients with stage B and C respectively.
