To Whom It May Concern,

This manuscript has been written, revised, and reviewed carefully by one of the co-authors Shi Chen PhD. Dr. Chen studied in the U.S. since 2006 and earned his PhD degree at Penn State University in 2011. Dr. Chen worked at University of Tennessee Knoxville/National Institute for Mathematical and Biological Synthesis, North Carolina State University, and is currently a tenure track faculty at University of North Carolina at Charlotte. Dr. Chen has written and published over 50 peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters, regularly taught undergraduate and graduate classes, mentored dozens of undergraduate and graduate researchers, received external funding support via rigorous proposal development, all of which have been conducted in fluent English.

Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to let me know.
